THE REVOLUTION IS COMING

A BRAND NEW EP BY JOHN THOMAS

Back after ten years out of the radar, John Thomas presents GINGA music! The first release of his new label sticks to the DJ producer's touch: tasty and funky. The Revolution is Coming EP, which should delight house music lovers, is announced for November 2019, in partnership with YY distribution.

"I want to find the same feeling I had at 15 years old, when I discovered Deee-Lite and Marshall Jefferson!"

2009, with 3 albums and more than 40 EPs to his credit, as well as a brilliant international DJ career, John Thomas decide to take a break.

With his wife Barbara Goes, they settle in Africa. The destination makes sense, he spent part of his childhood there, and returns regularly since the age of 18 years.

After a few years, and a joyful new life with nature and animals, close friends and artists, like Cabanne and David Smyle (whom has worked with on a track of this new EP) finally convince him to make music again.

2019. Guess what ? It worked ! They are back in Europe, settle in Lisbon (Portugal) where John has a brand new studio, uncluttered and top of the line, with both digital and analog.

Moreover, if his brain is full of ideas for the creation of new projects, it is certainly not to redo what he was doing 10 years ago.

Barbara & John want to bring together the influences that have built them throughout their lives. With their new label, GINGA Music, they are clearly heading towards a register close to House music, including their inspirations: Funk, Disco, Samba, Hip-Hop...
